Whom to Call for Advice

The DoD General Counsel is the Designated Agency Ethics Official (DAEO) for DoD employees, both civilian and military, who serve in the Office of the Secretary of Defense, most DoD Field Activities, and the Joint Staff.

Please direct your ethics and standards of conduct questions to your local JAG or General Counsel Office. Points of contact for specific Military Department ethics programs are below:

Army: (703) 695-4296 or usarmy.pentagon.hqda-ogc.mbx.ef@mail.mil

Air Force: (703) 693-0417 or usaf.pentagon.saf-gc.mbx.SAF-GCA-Ethics-Workflow@mail.mil

Navy & Marine Corps: (703) 614-7433 or ethics@navy.mil

IMPORTANT ADVICE

If you're not positive that what you're about to do is appropriate, ask your ethics counselor. One mission of ethics counselors is to advise personnel on accomplishing their goals without violating the standards of conduct.

In fact, disciplinary action for violating the standards of conduct will not be taken against you if you act in good faith reliance upon the advice of your ethics counselor following a full disclosure of all relevant circumstances.

This Handbook provides a general summary of the rules. It does not include every exception, every requirement, or all the factors that must be considered in making certain decisions. If you are unsure of your actions, call your ethics counselor before you act.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF PUBLIC SERVICE

Do	Don't
 Place loyalty to the Constitution, the laws, and ethical principles above private gain.	 Use public office for private gain.
 Act impartially to all groups, persons, and organizations.	 Use nonpublic information to benefit yourself or anyone else.
 Give an honest effort in the performance of your duties.	 Solicit or accept gifts from persons or parties that do business with or seek official action from DoD (unless permitted by an exception).
 Protect and conserve Federal property.	 Make unauthorized commitments or promises that bind the Government.
 Disclose waste, fraud, abuse, and corruption to appropriate authorities.	 Use Federal property for other than authorized activities
 Fulfill in good faith your obligations as a citizen, and pay your Federal, State, and local taxes.	 Take jobs or hold financial interests that conflict with your Government responsibilities.
 Comply with all laws providing equal opportunity to all persons, regardless of their race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or handicap.	 Take actions that give the appearance that they are illegal or unethical.

Remember: Violating ethics principles may result in disciplinary or corrective action, including criminal prosecution. Protect yourself from disciplinary action by seeking the advice of your ethics counselor.

GIFTS

Gifts From Outside Sources

Rule: You may not accept a gift given:

- Because of your official position, or
- By a prohibited source

Regardless of any exceptions that allow accepting gifts, it is always impermissible to:

- Accept a gift in return for being influenced in the performance of an official act. This is a bribe!
- Solicit or coerce the offering of a gift
- Accept gifts from the same or different sources so frequently that a reasonable person would think you're using your office for private gain
- Accept a gift in violation of a statute

What's a Prohibited Source?

A prohibited source is any person who is, or any organization a majority of whose members are:

- Seeking official action by DoD
- Doing or seeking to do business with DoD
- Regulated by DoD, or
- Substantially affected by the performance of your official duties

What's a Gift?

Anything of value.

Patty, a DoD employee, meets informally every week with representatives of defense contractors, who customarily treat her to a small breakfast.

Although an exception might permit acceptance of these small breakfasts, Patty's recurring practice of accepting them is improper.

Joe, a Computer.Com representative, is seeking to do business with DoD. He invites members of the acquisition department to a golf tournament at his company's expense.

DoD personnel cannot accept the gift of free golf unless an exception to the gift rule applies, because Computer.Com, seeks to do business with DoD, making the company a prohibited source.

What's Not a Gift?

Here are examples of items that are not defined as “gifts”:

- Modest items of food and refreshments (like coffee and donuts) when not served as a meal
- Prizes in contests open to the public
- Greeting cards and items with little intrinsic value, such as plaques, certificates, and trophies, intended only for presentation
- Commercial discounts available to the public or to all Government civilian or military personnel
- Anything the Government acquires by contract or otherwise legally accepts
- Anything for which you pay market value

Gifts That You May Keep

Remember, you don't have to accept a gift. It may be prudent, depending on the circumstances, to decline a gift, even when it is allowed by the exceptions permitting acceptance:

- Gifts valued at $20 or less, but
 - not cash or investment interests
 - not more than $50 in total from one source in a year
- Gifts motivated by personal relationships
- Certain discounts and similar benefits offered
 - by professional organizations
 - to groups unrelated to Government employment (such as AARP)
 - to groups in which membership is related to Government employment, if the same benefits are available to other, similar organizations. (e.g., discounted loans to Gov't. credit union members)
 - by a non-prohibited source to any group not determined on the basis of rank, type of responsibility, or pay.
- Gifts resulting from your or your spouse's outside business activities

You may accept a cup of coffee offered by a contractor.

If you enter your business card in a drawing sponsored by a DoD contractor that is open to the public, you may keep the prize.

On each of his quarterly visits, a sales representative of Overpriced, Inc., gave Bonnie, a DoD employee, a company T-shirt, valued at $10 each. During that period, Bonnie's brother Steve, who also works for Overpriced Inc., purchased her a birthday present valued at $60.

Bonnie may keep all of the gifts given to her. The T-shirts don't exceed the $50 annual limit from one source, and the gift from her brother Steve is the result of a personal, not business, relationship.

Tom was offered two tickets valued at $30 each to a baseball game from an employee of a defense contractor.

Since the price of each ticket exceeds the $20 limit, Tom may only accept the tickets if he pays the contractor $60 - the full market value of the tickets. (You may not “buy down” to the $20 limit by paying $40.)

- Free attendance provided by a state, local government, or tax exempt civic organization when there is a community relations interest
- Gifts accepted under specific statutory authority, such as certain gifts from a foreign government, gifts offered to the wounded or injured (consult your ethics counselor)
- Certain educational scholarships and grants (consult your ethics counselor)
- Free attendance, food, and entertainment (not travel) when provided by a sponsor:
 - of an event on the day that you are speaking or presenting information, or
 - of a widely attended gathering, provided that your supervisor determines that your attendance is in the agency's interest. (If the sponsor has interests that may be affected by you, an additional conflict of interest determination is required.)
- Free attendance, food, and entertainment (not travel) provided by a person other than the sponsor of a widely attended gathering, if:
 - the market value of the gift of free attendance is $375 or less and more than 100 persons are expected to attend, and
 - your supervisor determines that your attendance is in the agency's interest. (If the person has interests that may be affected by you, an additional conflict of interest determination is required.)
- Meals, lodging, transportation, and other benefits in connection with employment discussions
- Awards for meritorious public service or achievement and honorary degrees – consult your ethics counselor
- Travel benefits and free attendance from political organizations in connection with certain political activities
- Food and entertainment (not travel and lodging), at social events, if: (1) the invitation is not from a prohibited source, and (2) the event is free to all attendees.

Because of his DoD position, an arms trade association invites Jared to an industry-wide, one-day seminar sponsored by the association, a $200 value. He is also invited to dinner at a restaurant after the seminar with several industry executives, which costs $100.

Jared may accept the seminar invitation provided that his supervisor determines that his attendance furthers DoD interests.

Jared may not accept the free dinner invitation, which is not part of the seminar and is not widely attended.

An annual dinner held by a veterans' service organization costs $125 per person. Representatives from veterans' groups, Congress, and the media will attend. Several DoD employees are given free tickets by Big Guns, Inc. At the dinner, a veteran will be honored.

Since it is a widely attended gathering, the DoD employees may be able to accept the free tickets if their supervisors determine that more than 100 persons are expected to attend the event and there is an agency interest in the DoD employee's attendance.

- Gifts of food and entertainment (not to exceed the per diem rate) at meetings or events attended in an official capacity in foreign areas, when (1) not provided by a foreign government and (2) non-U.S. citizens participate in the meeting or event

Foreign Gifts

Rule: Federal employees may accept gifts from foreign governments if the gift is below the “minimal value” which is currently $375. Check with your ethics counselor about appraising the gift and the current allowed value.

Disposition of Improper Gifts

Rule: If you are offered a gift that you cannot accept, you should:

- Decline the gift
- Return the gift, or
- Pay the donor the gift’s market value

Subsequent reciprocity is not a solution

Gifts Between Employees

Rule: You may not accept a gift from an employee who earns less than you (unless you have a personal relationship with the employee and you are not in the chain of command)

Rule: You may not give, make a donation toward, or solicit a gift for someone superior to you in the chain of command.

Exceptions to the Rule

1. On an occasional basis, such as holidays or birthdays, you may give to a superior or receive from a subordinate:
 - Non-monetary gifts of up to $10

Under certain circumstances, perishable items may be:

- donated to charity
- destroyed
- shared within the office

Check with your ethics counselor.

Bill asks his four coworkers to each pitch in $20 to purchase a $100 golf putter for Doreen, their boss, for Christmas.

Doreen invites the office to a New Year’s party, serving meals valued at $25. Bill brings a $20 bottle of wine.

- Bill may not solicit, and he and his coworkers may not give, their boss a group gift or individual gifts at Christmas that exceed $10.
- The dinner and the wine are both appropriate.

- Personal hospitality provided at a residence (or an appropriate host/hostess gift)
 - Food or refreshments shared in the office
2. On special, infrequent occasions,
- of personal significance, such as marriage, illness, or birth or adoption of a child
 - that terminate the chain of command, such as retirement, resignation, or transfer
- you may
- solicit voluntary contributions up to $10/person for a group gift
 - give an appropriate gift to a superior
 - accept appropriate gifts from subordinates and group gifts that do not exceed $300 (consult your ethics counselor for exceptions.)

Doreen decides to retire. Bill, who works for Doreen, gives her a $20 book and again solicits for a going-away gift. He would like to get her a golf-related desk set that costs about $50.

- Bill may give the $20 book as it is an appropriate gift.
- Bill may also solicit for a gift and contribute toward the group gift.
- Bill has learned his lesson and does not suggest a contribution amount.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Conflicting Financial Interests

Criminal Rule: You may not do government work on a particular matter that will affect the financial interest of:

- You
 - Your spouse
 - Your minor children
 - Your general partner
 - Organizations with which you're negotiating or have an arrangement for future employment,
- or
- Any organization for which you serve as an employee, officer, director, trustee, or general partner

Bryan, a DoD procurement officer, is about to award a contract for new computers. His wife, Deanna, owns a computer sales business which has bid on the contract.

Bryan may not participate in the contract award decision because the particular matter will affect his wife's financial interests.

If you think you may have a conflicting financial interest, consult your ethics counselor immediately to determine the appropriate remedy.

Bribery and Graft

Rule: You may not seek or accept anything of value, other than your salary, for being influenced in the performance of your official duties.

Commercial Dealings Between DoD Employees

Rule: You may not knowingly solicit or make solicited sales to personnel who are junior in rank, grade, or position (or their families). This includes insurance, stocks, real estate, cosmetics, household supplies, and other such goods and services.

Representation of Others in Matters Affecting Government

Rule: You generally may not represent anyone outside the Government before a Federal agency or court, or share in any compensation for such representations made by anybody else, if the Government is involved in the particular matter.

- There are limited exceptions.
- There are special exceptions for consultants.
- Check with your ethics counselor.

Supplementation of Federal Salary

Rule: You may not accept compensation from any source except the Government for your services as a Government employee.

This rule does not apply, if:

- you are a “special Government employee” – i.e., a consultant, or
- you serve without compensation, or
- the gift or other item of value can be accepted in conformity with the rules governing gifts from outside sources (such as a public service award) or gifts between employees

Sue is a supervisor at DoD. After hours she operates a cosmetics sales business out of her home.

She may not make solicited sales to her DoD subordinates in the workplace - or after work by calling them at home.

IMPARTIALITY IN PERFORMING OFFICIAL DUTIES

Rule: Maintain your impartiality. Don't participate in any particular DoD matter if:

- the matter is likely to affect the financial interest of a member of your household, or a person with whom you have a “covered relationship” is involved in the matter, and
- a reasonable person with knowledge of the relevant facts could question your impartiality.

Who may be in a “covered relationship”?

- A member of your household or a relative with whom you're close,
- Someone with whom you have or seek to have a business relationship other than a routine consumer transaction,
- An organization (other than a political party) in which you actively participate,
- Someone with whom you had, within the last year, a close business relationship, such as partnership or employment, or
- Someone with whom your spouse, parent, or dependent child has (or seeks to have) a close business relationship, such as partnership or employment.

A senior VP from Blatz Corp. recently resigned from Blatz to become a senior official in DoD. Shortly after his arrival, the official's office is tasked to decide whether or not to renew Blatz's contract with DoD.

Because the senior official was employed by Blatz within the last year, he may not participate in the decision.

MISUSE OF POSITION

Rule: You may not use, or permit the use of, your Government position, title, or any authority associated with your office:

- To induce or coerce another person to provide any benefit to you or anyone with whom you are affiliated

The General Counsel has been asked by his college to serve on the Alumni Association.

He may serve in his personal capacity but may not allow the college to use his position as General Counsel on their letterhead or other promotional literature.

- To imply that DoD or the Government endorses personal activities
- To endorse any product, service, or enterprise, except as provided by statute or regulation

USE OF GOVERNMENT RESOURCES

Rule: Use Federal Government equipment and property, including communications systems, only for official purposes or authorized purposes as approved by your supervisor.

Rule: Use official time in an honest effort to perform official duties and don't ask subordinates to perform tasks outside their official duties.

FUNDRAISING

Rule: You may raise funds for organizations in your personal capacity outside the workplace but you may not use your official title, position, or authority to fundraise, nor may you solicit subordinates or prohibited sources.

Oscar, who is the Deputy Director of a DoD office, is in charge of raising funds for his son's Little League team.

Oscar may not ask his subordinates to contribute to their fundraiser.

TEACHING, SPEAKING, AND WRITING

Rule: You may accept payment for teaching, speaking, or writing that is unrelated to your official duties and that was not prepared on official time.

- If the work identifies your employment by DoD you must make a disclaimer.

Stu, an ethics attorney at DoD, has been offered $1,500 to teach a one-day course on Federal ethics to employees at Big Contractor, Inc.

Because the topic relates to his official duties, he may not accept the compensation.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

Rule: If you file a financial disclosure report, you need your supervisor’s prior written approval before you engage in business activity or employment with a DoD “prohibited source” (defined above in the section on “Gifts”). Presidential appointees and certain non-career employees have additional restrictions. For specific information consult your ethics counselor.

Rule: You may not have outside employment or activities that would materially impair your ability to perform your official duties.

Jill, who tests new computers for the office, wants to work on weekends for the vendor of those computers.

Since her outside employment would cause a conflict of interest with her Government duties, she should not accept the job.

POLITICAL ACTIVITIES

Most Federal civilian employees may actively participate in political campaigns and other partisan political activities. However, they may not engage in such activities on duty, or in any Federal workplace, vehicle, or while in uniform. Further, they may not use their official title, position or authority when engaging in partisan political activities.

While the Hatch Act loosened restrictions on partisan political activity for most Federal civilian employees, Federal laws still limit the partisan political activities of military personnel, law enforcement, national security, and career SES employees. Moreover, by policy within DoD, employees appointed by the President and employees appointed by the Secretary to non-career SES positions may not engage in any activity that could be interpreted as associating DoD with any partisan political cause or issue.

If you plan to engage in any partisan political activity, you should consult your ethics counselor.

EMPLOYMENT ISSUES

Seeking Employment

Rule: If you are seeking non-Federal employment (e.g., sending resumes to select employers), you may not do Government work on a particular matter that will affect the financial interests of any of your prospective employers. You must give a written disqualification statement to your supervisor.

Post-Government Employment

Rule: Always consult your ethics counselor before separating from the Government. He or she will advise you on the restrictions that will apply to your activities in the private sector in light of your specific duties and level of responsibility as a Government employee.

Janelle, a procurement specialist, is doing work as a Government employee on a contract worth $500,000. She is offered an interview for a job by the contractor.

Janelle must disqualify or recuse herself and inform her supervisor and ethics counselor.

OFFICIAL TRAVEL BENEFITS

You may keep promotional items such as frequent flyer miles that are awarded for official travel that is funded by the Government. If Government travel is funded by a non-Federal entity, you may keep promotional items that are awarded for that travel if the non-Federal entity does not object.

You may also keep promotional items given to compensate you for being voluntarily bumped from a flight. You may voluntarily surrender your seat ONLY if doing so does not adversely affect the performance of your official duties and does not result in additional cost to the Government.

You may not keep promotional items given to compensate you for being involuntarily bumped from a flight.

SOURCES OF FURTHER INFORMATION

If you have further questions, consult a service specific ethics counselor by one of the means described on page ii. In OSD, contact the Standards of Conduct Office (SOCO) via OSD.SOCO@MAIL.MIL.
